NOT SO TROPICAL AS JANUARY, 1907

Director Evans Admits It's Warm, but Says It Used to Be Warmer.

Dispatches from New York described yesterday as the warmest January day in the history of the Manhattan weather bureau, and told a word tale of electric fans buzzing in office buildings, mosquitoes in New Jersey, and outdoor baseball practice in Philadelphia. Among other weather anomalies that spoke of robins and bluebirds that had already begun to nest in Virginia, based by the thermometer.

The unromantic records kept by Director Evans, of the local Weather Bureau, tell another tale. It is warm, but it has been warmer. In Richmond's history of a warm January, the present one ranks third. On January 7, 1907, the thermometer climbed to 75 and established a record that has never since been equalled. In 1906, January 22 hugged a record of 75.

January 8 was the warmest day this year. The mercury reached 75 about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. During the past three days it has remained abnormally warm, but the thermometer has never topped 69. The high mark yesterday was 62—six degrees warmer than New York and sixty degrees warmer than Duluth. The robins are not nesting in Duluth.

At 8 o'clock last night the observation read 59, with indications pointing to a further drop before morning. The mean temperature of the day was likewise 59, an excess over the normal of twenty-one degrees. The coldest spot on the continent was Calgary, in the Canadian province of Alberta, where the mercury sank to eight degrees below zero. Tampa reported 82 and good bathing.

Results Are What Count

In every phase of human endeavor it is the results that spell success or failure.

It is the results which have been achieved by Charles Lincoln Smith in the correction of defects of the eye that have won for him the international reputation which he now enjoys. By means of a system which he discovered almost a quarter of a century ago and which he has steadily advanced to perfection, this remarkable "Refractionist" has been able to bring to hundreds of thousands of people the untold delight which comes to those who have had the clearness of their vision restored through his instrumentality.

His method is his only. It is the product of years of study and research and its secrets are locked in his brain alone. Now, after years of travel in this country, Mexico, Cuba and Europe, he is back in Richmond with his vast fund of experience obtained during almost a third of a century of practice.

BLUES GET HOUSE IN WASHINGTON

Splendid Quarters Secured for Use of Battalion at Wilson Inauguration.

Quarters have been secured at Seventeenth and I Streets, Washington, for the Richmond Light Infantry Blues during their attendance at the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of Governor Woodrow Wilson as President of the United States.

The building is a residence with eighteen rooms, splendidly heated and lighted, with plenty of conveniences in the way of bath rooms and facilities for cooking. In fact, eating will be one of the specialties, since the Blues will take a Richmond caterer with them to make sure that there will be no hitch, and that congestion in the city will not force any member of the command to go hungry.

Two nights will be spent in Washington. The Blues will depart from this city on March 2, and will return March 5. They will take a prominent place in the inaugural parade. In fact, the presence of the battalion is always regarded as a feature of inaugurations. The men always go, and get a leading place in the parade. Local military organizations see to it that they get all they want.

ALEXANDRIA LOSES ANNEXATION SUIT

Judge Gordon Dismisses Petition—Question of Appeal Not Decided.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Alexandria, Va., January 18.—Alexandria's ambition to spread out and take in a part of Alexandria and Fairfax Counties, was shattered to-day, when Judge Bennett T. Gordon, of Nelson County, Va., who presides in the annexation proceedings, came to the Circuit Court for Alexandria County, and in an opinion handed down dismissed the suit of the city for additional territory. Judge Gordon read his decision from the bench. His principal reasons for refusing the petition, as set forth, are practically as follows:

First, the population of the city has not grown sufficiently during the past thirty years to warrant further territory; second, the city is not in a congested condition, as claimed, but there is plenty of room within the present limits for future development; third, the financial condition does not warrant further obligations; fourth, that the health of Alexandria is so good there seems to be but little danger of an epidemic, due to the lack of sanitary provisions in the suburbs.

The decision came as a complete surprise to Alexandria, most of whom had confidently expected that the court would allow a part of the territory asked for. Whether or not the city will appeal the case is not known. This would come before the City Council for an appropriation for such.

In concluding his opinion, Judge Gordon says: "I am of the opinion that the evidence fails to show the necessity for or expediency of annexation at this time, and that therefore the petition must be dismissed." The proceedings have been in court for some time. Able legal counsel was employed by the three sides. The case lasted more than two weeks and a total of 108 witnesses testified.

EFFICIENCY THAT'S THE THING

How Many Men Know How to Keep it at Par

Thousands—yes, tens of thousands—of men grow old 10 years too soon. The daily duties of business grow arduous early, and evening finds them tired mentally and physically.

The stomach is mostly responsible; the man who keeps his stomach in first-class shape will keep his mental efficiency and his physical efficiency to years longer than the man who does not.

Lack of efficiency means lack of pure blood, and lack of pure blood means that the stomach is not supplying the blood with enough nourishment.

And if the stomach does not supply the blood with enough nourishment something is wrong with the stomach and should be righted.

If you realize that your efficiency is on the wane, and that you are losing money and happiness in consequence, get a 50c box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets to-day and take two after or with each meal for three days; then take one with each meal regularly until you feel well and vigorous.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets disinfest, tone up and restore elasticity to the stomach and intestinal canal. They do more: they increase the nutrition of the body, and in case of nerve exhaustion, sleeplessness, night sweats, bad dreams or any condition that requires a restorative they act with astounding rapidity. They can be found at helpful druggists the world over. Fragle Drug Co. guarantee MI-O-NA.—Advertisement.
